JUVENILE PRISONER.

Twelve-Year-Old Boy Makes Repeated Attempts to Kill a Family.

EUGENE, Ore., April 14.-Oral Poindexter, a lad twelve years old, was arrested at his ome, four miles north of Coburg, this morning, and brought to this city on a charge of attempting to kill the family of Mrs. Hiram Smith, a widow who lives on a farm adjoining that of the Poindexters. For some time past the Smith family have felt that they were the victims of persecution, as repeated attempts had been made to kill them by scattering poison about the dishes and eatables. S. O. Garrison, neighbor, was appointed special officer to ferret out the matter. He obtained his first elew last Saturday. Mrs. Smith was away rom home, but one of the little girls was left to keep watch. She saw the boy come with a vial and pour something into the ump. The next day she was working about the chicken house and was struck over the back of the head with a club by the same boy and left unconscious. Other evidence was secured against the boy until sufficient was obtained to warrant his arrest. It is supposed that Poindexter's act is the result of same old feud between the families.

The State convention to-morrow will indorse the presidential candidacy of Governor W. O. Bradley, but not without a struggle. The Gover-If your dealer don't have them call on nor and his friends will have control of the organization from the start. The State central committee, which is favorable to Governor Bradley, met to-night and decided on Judge T. J. Morrow, of Somerset, for temporary chairman. The Judge is ex-department commander of the G. A. R., and a brother-in-law of Governor Bradley. The convention will be called to order by Chairman Yerkes, of the State central committee, and the fight will begin when nominations for officers are called for. The anti-Bradley men will name a candidate in opposition to Judge Morrow, and will make their fight on the line that the latter's selection indicates a purpose to force upon the convention a cut-and-dried programme. The man mentioned most likely to lead their fight in the convention is A. R. Burnam, elector for the Eighth district, but he has not indicated a willingness to accept the responsibility. The Silver-Dollar Man Will Let the Presidential Bee Buzz.

SEDALIA, Mo., April 14.-The Democratic State convention will be called to order at noon by Charles C. Maffit, chairman of the State central committee. That the convention will adopt a platform favoring free silver at 16 to 1 is certain. Politicians have been counting noses, and say that out of 535 delegates there are only thirteen "sound money" men. Practically every one of the other delegates has been instructed to vote itment of a receiver. It was stated to for the white metal and for the following ne court that the fire reserve of the comdelegates at large, who are exponents of that issue: United States Senators Vest and Cock rell, Governor Stone and ex-Congressman William Hatch. Ex-Congressman Bland's candidacy for President has been one of the most extensive piano dealers in northern Ohio, made an assignment to-day to Mrs. Antoinette Muhlhauser. The assets are estimated at about $78,000 and liabilities at $120,000, principally due to Smith & Nixon, of Cincinnati; Gildemeester, & Kroeger, of New York; Colby & Co., of Erie, Pa.; Kurtzmann & Co., Buffalo; Brown & Simpson, of Worcester, Mass., and Steinway quietly worked among the delegates, and Bland is here. The Republican party eaders Congressman Johnson, Hansbrough, Hon. Jud Lamoure and othersare here. The main fight will be on the chairmanship of the convention and the Lamoure and Hansbrough factions are the opposing contestants. It looks now as though this would be the condition of affairs all through and as each issue comes up the friends of each of these leaders will fall in line for a victory, one over the other. Hansbrough's support is strong, but the Lamoure men are equally confident. It will be a thorough McKinley convention and it is

A resolution was offered instructing for McKinley, but it was tabled.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., April 14.—The Republican county convention held here to-day was the most exciting ever known in the history of the county. The fight between Col. W. F. Reeder and Congressman W. C. The resolution that Reeder be allowed to select his own conferees was carried after a spirited contest. ried after a spirited contest.

Hunter, the Republican caucus nominee for convention elected E. M. Brayton and L. D. Melton (white), and Congressman Murray and S. E. Smith (colored) to the national convention. A resolution indorsing McKinley was overwhelmingly defeated, but resolutions were adopted saying that either McKinley, Allison, Morton, Reed or Quay would be acceptable.

The financial plank is as follows: "We are in favor of maintaining the present monetary standards until some satisfactory ratio between the hard money metals can be reached by international agreement." The rest of the platform was taken up-with convention elected E. M. Brayton and L.

Meetings of Manufacturers of Sheet-Iron and Steel and Tin-Plate.

PITTSBURG, April 14.-The general committee of the association of sheet iron and steel manufacturers is in session here. The object is to discuss the condition of trade and the result the new prices of the steel pool will have on the manufacture of sheets. The tin plate industry is also affected by the advanced rate put on tin plate bars by the combination. Secretary Jarrett says he has invited manufacturers who are not members of the association to attend tomorrow's meeting. Mr. Jarrett says it is not for the purpose of forming a pool, but to arrange for maintaining prices, which have been unnecessarily cut in the past. No action was taken to-day. JOHN LEHMAN KILLS THREE C' IL-DREN AND HIMSELF AT CHICAGO.

Though He Had $1,500 in Bank, He Feared His Family Might Come to Want-Other Capital Orimes.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. NEWPORT, Ky., April 14.-The mystery as to the disposition of Pearl Bryan's head will probably be cleared up before long. Colonel Nelson, the attorney for the commonwealth, stated to-day that without doubt the head is rotting in the Ohio river. At the proper time he will produce witnesses who saw Jackson and Walling make two visits to the suspension bridge and throw bundles into the stream. One of these bundles the witnesses will say undoubtedly contained a human head. The witnesses who will testify to these facts have positively identified both Jackson and Walling, and will do so again at the trial, and their testimony will be of the most sensational character. Colonel Nelson stated that he regretted exceedingly that the story had been made public, but that now that it an explanation was due them as to why the head could not be recovered. Walling has from the first claimed that the head was thrown in the river by Jackson, and Jackson, in turn, in the presence of Chief Deitsch, confessed in his terror and confusion that the head was in the Ohio river. The charges made by Scott Jackson against Sheriff Plummer and the petition of Jackson and Walling to have him removed from connection with their cases caused a profound sensation in Newport where the sheriff is very popular. Attorney Crawford, who filed the affidavit containing the petition, is a relative of the sheriff's. Sheriff Plummer said to-day: "I think the attorneys for the prisoners are mistaken when they charge me with threatening the defendants in these murder cases. The nearest I ever came to threat ning any one was in a conversation with Jackson. He had refused to go to Kentucky without a requisition. I then told him that possibly there was some danger of mob violence over the river at that time, and that should he be brought to Newport his life would be in danger. I advised him to tell me all-confess the whole story to me, so that I would know exactly how to proceed with the case. He, of course, re fused, and that is all there was to it. I made no threats. He held a Bible in his hand, and it so disgusted me that I re-proved him severely for having the good "As to summoning the jury, I merely carry out the orders of Judge Helm in this case. The names are selected by him. I merely serve the summons. As for summoning witnesses, I have been just as faith ful in getting the witnesses for the defense as those of the prosecution. In short, am doing my duty as I honestly see it, at I assure you I will continue to perform such duties without fear or favor. Nothing would please me better than to be relieve of the duties of this case, but I can see my duties plain, and I don't intend to shirk E. E. Hackelman, a dental student, colleague of Alonzo Walling, gave deposition Tuesday morning in Colonel Washington's office in Newport. Colonel Washington represented Walling and Col. Nelson the prosecution. Hackelman has been called home owing to sickness in the family, and it was for this reason his deposition was taken. He lives at Mays, Ind On being questioned he stated that he was with Walling until midnight on the fatal Friday night Pearl Bryan was supposed to have been murdered at Fort Thomas, and that it would have been impossible for Walling to have had anything to do with the killing that night.

QUADRUPLE TRAGEDY.

Street-Car Driver Shoots His Three Children and Himself. CHICAGO, April 14.-While brooding over the idea that his family would suffer from want. John Lehman this evening shot and killed his three children. After committing the terrible deed Lehman attempted to end his own life by hanging, but, failing in this, he turned the revolver on himself and sent a bullet through his heart, killing himself instantly. The names of the dead are: JOHN LEHMAN, thirty-eight years old. CLARA LEHMAN, five years.

BERTHA LEHMAN, three years.

An infant, four months old, not ye For eight years Lehman has been in the employ of the West Chicago Street-railway Company, and during the greater part of that time had been a driver on the Centralavenue line. Lehman had saved $1,500. This money is deposited in one of the city banks. The family lived comfortably and wanted for nothing. Notwithstanding that fact, Lehman worried a great deal. He had a fear that some day his savings would be swept away and his family would become dependent on charity. He gradually grew worse, and of late, when at home, he talked of nothing else. Mrs. Lehman and Henry Lehman, her young stepson, were away from home when the tragedy occurred. A found that his father had killed all the children and himself. Minnie Lehman, daughter, who had not returned from school, was, beside Henry, the only child to escape, and both would have been killed had they been at home, for their father was asking for them a short time before they returned and found the bodies. All the chil dren were shot through the heart and killed instantly. The bullet did the work in every case. The body of Lehman was lying in the bath room upstairs. A piece of clothes line was around his neck, showing that he had attempted to hang himself.

They went to Brooklyn, to the home of Grimaldi's brother, Carmino Martino Gentili, the brother of the girl, arrived here from Boston to-day and met his sister and her lover. There was a lively nterview, but finally the Grimaldi brothers and Gentili came out of the house together, the trouble having been in some degree smoothed over. To-night, however, it was renewed, and Salvator de Pasqualo endeav-ored to act as mediator. A fight resulted, in which Gentili was shot in the breast by Carmino Grimaldi, while De Pasqualo re-ceived ten stab wounds, eight in the body and two in the head, at the hands of Gentili. Carmino Grimaldi was shot twice, it is de clared, by Gentili. The other Grimaldi made his escape. CLEVELAND, April 14 .- A dastardly attempt to wreck the limited express train, due in this city at 4:30 a. m., on the Cleveland & Pittsburg road, was made this morning before daylight near the southern limits of the city. DR. JOHN P. D. JOHN ANSWERS IN-GERSOLL'S SUNDAY ADDRESS.

He Points Out Numerous Weak Points in the Arguments Used by the Noted Unbeliever.

THINGS GOD DOES NOT DO

AND HIS REASONS FOR DOING OTHER THINGS AGNOSTICS DERIDE.

Christians, Dr. John Says, Reject the Kind of Hell Described by Ingersoll-The Bible and Science.

CHICAGO, April 14 .- Dr. John P. D. John, ex-president of DePauw University and a well-known Methodist minister, replied this evening to the address of Colonel Ingersoll, delivered at the Militant Church Sunday. Dr. John said in part:

"I have not come to abuse Mr. Ingersoll.

Abuse is not argument. He has proposed some difficult questions, to the defenders of the Christian faith. It is not a sufficient answer to say that he is a blasphemer. That is to beg the question. Let him be a good man; that will not serve as a crutch for his logic if it be lame. Let him be a bad man; that will not make his logic limp if it be sound. Truth is in a sorry plight if it must rest on epithets. It is old enough to stand alone. The truth is worth its face though uttered by the devil, and sophistry does not become logic in the mouth of the saint. Mr. Ingersoll claims that the Christi and its reputed author are both man-made, and therefore no better than the man who made them. He objects to the reputed author of the Bible on the ground that, like the men who made him, he is ignorant, cruel, savage, unjust, immoral, inconsistent, unfaithful, and that he is opposed to art, selence, education, progress and liberty. He objects to the Christian scheme on the broad ground that it is unscientific. That is, having been made by unscientific men, the Christian scheme is contrary to fact, unnatural, superstitious and not adapted to the task it proposes. "The Bible must be judged by the manner in which it does what it professes to do, and not by a foreign standard. It came to teach men of duty and destiny-not to teach art. science or literature. If the Bible is opposed to these things because it is not a good text book on these subjects, Mr. Ingersoll must be opposed to the public schools, because he does not make a plea for them in his eloquent oration at his brother's grave. Judge a funeral oration by what it says of death, and the dead, rather than by what it falls to say of an educational system. Judge the Bible by what it says of duty and destiny and not by what it omits saying of the things it did not come to teach. "I will put all Mr. Ingersoll's charges under two heads, namely, moral objections against the character of God, and intellectual objections against His revelation. First, the objections against His character for ordering in ancient times, and permitting in both ancient and modern times, acts which men cannot commit against their fellows without being guilty of robbery, oppression and murder. I will put these in two classes. First, those instances in which God destroyed life by natural agents, such as flood, fire and the like, and second, those instances in which infliction of pain; confiscation of property and destruction of life occurred through human agency under His order or by His permission GOD'S GIFT IN TRUST. "First, natural agency. The answer is short: Life is the gift of God in trust. The most refined ideals of justice demand that a trust once accepted must be surrendered

according to its terms, and that the bestower of such a trust may of right determine the conditions of the bestowal. But the agnostic replies that he was not consulted about the trust, and that it is unjust to make him a compulsory pary to the transaction. He has, however, accepted the terms of the trust and he stoutly claims all the advantages arising therefrom. Attempt to relieve him of his embarrassment by taking his life, and he protects himself against your well-meant endeavors. He gets vaccinated when and he protects himself against your well-meant endeavors. He gets vaccinated when the smallpox comes, and when the cyclone begins to blow he hurries to the cellar. As long as men continue to live in God's bounty, human life is a trust as sacred as if it had been originally sought from the hand of God, but what of the savageries of war and the infamies of slavery permitted and ordered by Jehovah in the early history of the race? The only new element in this case is the reflex influence on the men who acted as God's agents. For life being a trust, al own protection, deprive men of what wo otherwise be their rights when the exerc otherwise be their rights when the exercise of the right becomes destructive of society itself, and shall not the Maker of heaven and earth be permitted to do as much?

"But what of the reflex influence on the men who acted as God's agents in the deprivation of liberty and the destruction of life? Why did not God, with whom a miracle is so easy, says Mr. Ingersoll, make the legalities at once what he wanted them the Israelites at once what he w to be without educating them through the horrors of war and slavery? Because he could not. God can make clods the way he wants them, and so they will remain, but he cannot make parallel lines meet, for they will no longer be parallel, and he canthey will no longer be parallel, and he cannot make men virtuous against their wills, for they will no longer be men. Education is a process of steps, and not a sudden bridging of extremes. Ancient Israel had been slaves for centuries, and they came out of their bondage ignorant, animal and brutal. God could not train them by the methods he would use under the civilization of the nineteenth century. You cannot train a lion by the methods of a lamb. Education must proceed in harmony with encertion must proceed in harmony with encertion. cation must proceed in harmony with environments. A magnet will not lift a feather, though it will lift a ton of steel. The feather does not know the magnet.
Ancient Israel did not know truth, beauty, tenderness and lofty sentiment, and God himself could not do otherwise than adant
his methods of education to their feeble capacity for truth.

"But Mr. Ingersoll raises his chief ob-jection against God because of his pro-posed dealing with men in the next world. He hates hell, he says, and so do I, bu neither of us can hate it out of existence. Hell is already here. The majority of mankind are already in its fires. But the hell to come is not the one described by Mr. Ingersoll and long ago rejected by intelligent Christians. There is no hell, here or hereafter, other than that whose fires are kindled by the law of required and free are hereafter, other than that whose here are kindled by the law of sowing and reaping. Hell has already come because sin has come, and it will remain as long as sin endures. The fires of hell cannot go out till sin disappears from the universe. Mr. Ingersoll exalts science, but science declares that hell will be eternal if sin be MOSES' HAPPY GUESS. "All the intellectual objections against the Bible may be put under the one general charge that it is unscientific; that is, it is contrary to fact, unnatural, superstitious and not adapted to its work. Does the Bible conflict with any known fact of modern science? If so, that much of it is not inspired. If not, it must have been inspired for the best astronomical, geological and biological knowledge contemporary with the age of sacred writers was a chaotte mass of ignorance. If you had been guessing 3,000 years ago about the creation of light—yea, less than a century ago—you would have guessed the sun first and light simultaneously or afterwards. But Mose made a happier guess. He saw without the spectroscope what our generation has seen with one. There are universes now in process of evolution before our eyes in which light has appeared, but their blazing sum will not appear for cons yet to come. Moses
